

...and the wife, Marie, and their young son, Louis. It was different when she returned with Father, the delirious child, whom old Margaret had considered to be a lost boy.

